

CONTENTS

Acknowledgements

Children and youth at risk: An introduction
Ian Grosvenor, Ingrid Lohmann, Christine Mayer

I Childhood and youth as risky phases of life

Onanism as endangering salvation?
Theory and practice in an educational institute around 1800
Rebekka Horlacher

Photography as a mode of enquiry: On the perception of children with educational needs
Karin Priem

Protection of childhood during the Spanish Civil War:
Art and propaganda on the Republican side
José F. Jiménez Trujillo

The risk of freedom. Young people and national rebuilding in Italy after World War II
Fabio Pruneri

Incidences of risky practices that are child abuse in Nigeria
Alice Arinlade Jekayinfa

II Institutional practices and the definition of risk

Kept safe from the 'evil world'. The Moravian boarding school for girls in Montmirail (Switzerland) between 1766 and 1800
Sara Aebi

Labour, children and education in the first half of the 19th century.
Socio-political and pedagogical endeavours in Switzerland
Tibor Bauder, Claudia Crotti

Reform in education of the deaf:
David Hirsch and his school in Rotterdam (1853)
Marjoke Rietveld-van Wingerden

Thinking childhood: Categories of schooling in Mexico, 1850-1930
Josefina Granja Castro

Photographic representation and the construction of identity in Casa Pia, a boarding school for destitute orphans, 1860-1950
Maria Leonor Colaço

III Conflicts over charity

Young women at risk: Poverty, malnutrition and philanthropy.
The role of charity schools in Greek society, 1830-1899
Polly Thanailaki

Hunger and help or how to feed children in meagre times.
Health care and welfare in the District of Duesseldorf, 1890–1925
Gisela Miller-Kipp

Protection of abandoned children in Spain:
The Casa de Misericordia in Málaga, 1911-1936
Francisco Martín, Carmen Sanchidrián

IV International exchange of pedagogical concepts

'Teachers in miniature'. Moral risk, teaching monitors, and the opposition to the Bell-Lancaster-System in the early 19th century. A transnational perspective
Marcelo Caruso

Young Neapolitans at risk: Julie Schwabe and the Hamburg-Manchester-connection
James C. Albisetti

Child protection within an international context:
The 1908 reports by Álvaro López and Julián Juderías
Pedro L. Moreno Martínez

Girls at risk: The female learning space in colonial India, 1818-1919
Tim Allender

Notes on the authors